MHL Aware for Educators - 1-hour Training

Click here to register. Note: This is a new link this week, since last week's CGIStudent code didn't work.

The Problem: Despite recent state legislation requiring mental health education, a tremendous policy to practice gap remains. School communities are struggling with implementation, primarily due to a lack of knowledge and confidence about a topic that has traditionally never been included in the curriculum.

A Foundational Part of the Solution: The MHLC created a one-hour certification program called MHL Aware that offers foundational information about mental health literacy (MHL). This offers educators the knowledge and confidence they need to take the next steps toward effectively implementing MHL into their school communities.

This training is sponsored by Clinton Global Initiative Project for Pre-Service and Degree-Seeking School Professionals.

Student Orations Competition for Harvard Commencement

Click here for more information including contest rules.

The Orations Competition is among the oldest and most treasured traditions associated with Harvard's Commencement.

Three students are chosen by a panel of judges to deliver, from memory, an address to the assembly of approximately 32,000, which includes members of the governing boards, honorary degree recipients, faculty, parents, alumni and of course: the graduates themselves.

About the orations

- The first of these orations is delivered in Latin by a graduating senior from the College;
- The second, in English, is also delivered by a graduating senior from the College; and
- The third is delivered by a degree candidate from the University's graduate or professional Schools.

Being selected as one of the three orators is regarded as one of the highest honors a student can achieve. While these orations originally involved a student defending their thesis, the range of topics has since expanded to reflect a variety of perspectives and themes related to Harvard and the global community.

Location: Askwith Hall, Longfellow Hall, 13 Appian Way

Since 2016, the Let's Talk! Conference has been an intentional space for professionals, parents, and students to explore ways of promoting the success and well-being of Asian and Asian American students. This year, we are extremely honored to host a fireside chat with trailblazer TV journalist Ms. Connie Chung. She will share insights from her memoir, Connie, where she reflects on her remarkable career and her groundbreaking entry into a predominantly white, male-dominated television news industry during a time when women were largely confined to behind-the-scenes roles. Profoundly influenced by her family's cultural traditions, yet growing up completely Americanized, Connie recounts her journey as an Asian woman tenaciously in pursuit of stories, battling rival reporters and quickly becoming a household name, always with the unwavering support of her husband, Maury Povich.

Sign up here to express interest and learn more.

Calling all junior scientists! We know many of you are looking for ways to give back to the community - but time feels so short these days, especially with little ones to chase after. At the LEARN Labs of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, we understand these pressures (as we are parents, too)! That's why we've been developing new ways for parents and children to get involved in science. We are offering multiple opportunities for you and your children to participate in research activities both in local lab spaces or online – providing fun, enriching, and educational experiences with our trained scientists, typically alongside compensation for your family's time.

If you are interested, please consider signing up to be part of our participant database. This would mean that the information you provide will be stored in our electronic database for us to contact you about future studies that are relevant to your child's age group. Importantly, filling out this form does not mean that you have promised us to participate in any of our studies yet. After signing up, we may contact you to tell you more about what studies and activities we have available for you and your child.

Questions? Interested? Please feel free to contact us via email at learnlabs.harvard@gmail.com, or one of the scientists on-staff, Joseph Colantonio, to learn more about opportunities for your child to participate in child development research.
